INVESTIGATION SURROUNDED BY CLOSE SECRECY

Silk Tent Erected Over Mysterious Machine
For Operations

Exploration work that has been going on in San Pablo canyon for the past three months, is likely to result in active drilling for oil in a short time.

The work has been going on so quietly that not a word has been heard of it before. The entire affair has been shrouded in the greatest of secrecy.

"Mystery" Machine
An oil locating machine, that no one has ever seen, except the inventor, is being used in the investigation that has been carried on.

Right to explore for oil has been given by the East Bay Water company, S. P. Skow and others in the canyon, but all are loath to give out any definite information.

All of the preliminary work is being done by Augustus Emanuel,
a geologist, and a machine is used,
that no one is permitted to see.

Near Skow Place
At the present time, the machine is located in a canyon about a half mile west and south of the Skow place, and every time it is put in operation, a silk tent is erected, and the only person to witness its operation is Emanuel.

It is claimed that by the use of the machine, a person is able to tell not only the gravity of the oil in the ground, but its gravity and the distance that it will be found.

Ranchers Approached Several other ranchers have been approached in the last few days to sign up leases, but so far they are considering the proposition.

"Just who E. Emanuel represents, no one is able to ascertain, but his movements are exciting at great deal of interest in the San Pablo canyon section.

It will be remembered that the Standard Oil company sunk a well about 3,000 feet about three years ago, and then covered it up, and it was reported at the time that it was plugged with cement.

The rumor at that time was the company was boring for oil, and it was claimed that oil had been struck, but this the company denied, and gave out the information the well had been sunk for the purpose of locating an adequate water supply.

Alexanders Return From Long Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Alexander, 731 Pennsylvania avenue, returned home late this week from a 700-mile auto trip to Kansas City. The couple made the trip via the Santa Fe trail through New Mexico and Arizona, and the return
by the Victory highway through Colorado and Nevada.

The Alexanders left Richmond
on April 10, arriving in Kansas City eight days later. The trip home was made in six days.

Mrs. Adlde Grete of Pasadena motored up here for a few days visit with Mrs. Steven Detlow, 214 Nevins avenue, Richmond. Mrs.
Adlde Grete is an aunt of Mrs.
Steven Detlow.

LAYING LINOLEUM

Modern linoleum floors laid the right way give long wear of service. First a thick layer of felt is pasted over the wood floor. This takes care of expansion and contraction and even rough places. Then the linoleum is cemented over the felt, fitting, matching and sealing the seams perfectly.
The result is a smooth, watertight floor. It is beautiful in appearance and good for long years of service. Let linoleum specialists supply your needs. See their AD in the Buyers Guide on the classified page.

CHILD DROWNED IN TUB

22 MONTH OLD CHILD FALLS IN TUB OF WATER

Infant Immersed But Few Minutes; Efforts To Save Unavailing

John Capra, Jr., 22-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Capra of Richmond Annex, was drowned shortly after noon yesterday when he fell into a tub of water while learning to walk in the yard of the Capra home on Columbia avenue.

The child was discovered lying face down in fifteen inches of water by his sister after he believed to have been thrown in but a few minutes. A doctor was hastily summoned, but the child was pronounced dead upon his arrival.

Coroner Aubrey Wilson took charge of the body after conducting a thorough investigation of the case. Inspector Oliver Wylie was detained to the case by the police department.

Authorities were of the opinion
last night that the child's life might have been saved had the fire department's inhalator been brought into play.

The child is survived by his father and mother, two sisters and one brother.

CHAMBERLIN PLANE WINGS WAY ON NON-STOP HOP TO EUROPE

Bellanca Sets Stiff Pace To Break Record
Of Lindbergh

Navy Officials Predict Success; Weather
Is Favorable

BERLIN, June 4.—The first official welcome extended to Chamberlin by the German government broadcast by Bellanca radio in the hope it may reach the two darling men now winging their way toward Europe was expressed in a statement by the German Air Minister Dr. Koch from Elberfeld
tonight. Dr. Koch said:

"When Capt. Lindbergh flew across the Atlantic even the air experts asserted his accomplishment was only important from the standpoint of sport, and not from the standpoint of transportation.
But that is not true. Great human deeds in which lives were risked and danger disregarded have been the forerunners of the important progress of civilization. For that reason all German hearts go out to the daring Chamberlin with the fervent wish that the eternal arms may graciously guide him across the seas and bring him unharmed
into a German home whose hospitality awaits him.

Plans Mature For New Boulevard To Relieve San Pablo Congestion

The great industrial highway or truck boulevard between Richmond and Oakland is growing nearer to a reality.

This boulevard to take care of the industrial traffic and to relieve the congestion on San Pablo avenue, originated with E. A.
Hoffman, city engineer and superintendent of streets, Richmond.

The famous committee of one hundred in Oakland, which is employing Harlan Bartholomew, world expert on city planning and traffic regulation, is working in cooperation with Richmond on the great plan.

The municipal officials of the communities affected by the proposed industrial boulevard are likewise actively cooperating to work out a harmonious plan by which all the communities can jointly agree on the proper route and work together to get the necessary million dollars or more to build the truck boulevard.

Manufacturers Of Oakland To Pay Visit On Next Thursday

Richmond will be honored next Thursday, June 8th, by a group of more than 60 manufacturers and industrial men of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, on the first out-of-town visit made by the industry and manufacturers committee of that organization
this year.

And the Richmond Chamber of Commerce is preparing an enthusiastic welcome for the visitors which will center in a luncheon at the new Hotel Carquinez and later a trip through the great Standard Oil company's plant.
The luncheon is open to the public.

The Richmond Chamber of Commerce, urges every Richmond business man, every professional man and woman, the heads of our local industries and every other progressive citizen, to attend the luncheon next Thursday noon at the New Hotel Carquinez with the visiting manufacturers and Oakland business men.

Charles P. Howard, president of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, will be the principal speaker of the day. His topic will

AGE SERVES YOUTH WITH BLACK ORB

Age versus Youth!
Whenver this combination clashes in physical combat the experts are most apt to pick fresh youth to emerge victorious over decrepit age.
"Youth will be served," s
the old bromide that they usually offer up to substantiate their choice.

But an exception occurred
this week at the Certain-ed Products plant when a 76-year-old "straw boss" administered a sound wallop to a 38-year-old engineer, with whom he had an altercation.

The details leading up to the fracas have not been learned, but it is certain that the younger man was given the thrashing of his young life, receiving a badly bruised
and discolored countenance
as a memento of the encounter.

Vehicular Increase Noted With Opening Of

Vehicular traffic increase of more than 200 per cent is the direct result of the improved schedule inaugurated by the Southern Pacific over its Richmond-San Francisco auto and passenger ferry on May 21st,

the day the mighty Carquinez Bridge was formally opened to motor travel, according to figures obtained by the Richmond
Chamber of Commerce.

MOTORISTS USE FERRY
The motorists of Richmond and vicinity are continuing to encourage the use of the Rich-

For many months the chamber er service. The result was brought to a climax on May 21st when the new schedule of

AIR CONQUEROR SETS SAIL FOR LAND OF FREE

Fatted Calves Due To Be Slaughtered As Ace Returns

(By Universal Service)
ABOARD CRUISER MEMPHIS,
June 4.—Captain Charles A. Lindbergh, aboard this warship of hunts, for the moment the nation's favorite son, who has been so prodigal of life and during in conquering the broad Atlantic by air, is on his way home today. Little does this prodigal son realize how many fatted calves will be slaughtered to feast him
when he reaches the good old U. S. A.

Reception Planned
Two weeks ago today he darted
out of the night into the glare of artificial light on Le Bourget
Field to be acclaimed by 100,000
French people and as many Americans as were over there, a new world hero. In another week he will be told by the president of his own country, as they class hands at Washington, how proud
the nation is at his achievement.

Feted By Kings
Lindbergh came to Europe without artificial light, "with only the clothes on his back." He has been decorated by two kings and the French republic; feted by princes and potentates, cheered by great and small. He has refused offers of millions for "contracts" that did not meet his fancy.

All those things to him are like water on a duck's back. But huddled in a safe place, under his constantly watchful eye, he is faking back one piece of baggage.

Boys Mother A Hat
His choicest possession today
is carefully done up in a nice box.
It is a new bonnet—the latest
Paris creation—for mother.

Captain Lindbergh boarded the Memphis at Cherbourg this afternoon at 3:37. The warship weighed anchor 58 minutes later as all the ships in the harbor shrieked farewell and great throngs on the docks waved flags and handkerchiefs.

As soon as the Memphis was under way Lindbergh retired to his quarters and a guard was posted outside to prevent interruptions to the repose of him who was only lately a modest air mail pilot in America.

Provisions! Plenty!
The Memphis lay all night in

Man Killed In Pittsburg Fire

PITTSBURG, June 4.—Floyd Edmonds, 25, was burned to death
in a fire that destroyed the Lucky Garage building this morning.
About $100,000 damage was done by the flames which threatened to spread to the residence district of the city.

The residence of J. A. Junta, adjoining the three-story brick garage building, was crushed like a house of cards when the larger portion of the brick structure collapsed and fell on it.
Edmonds, a night mechanic at the garage, was overcome by the smoke after he had been dragged to a window by Albert Bonilla, 30, proprietor of the garage. Bonilla was forced to abandon Edmonds and leap to safety. Firemen say they saw Edmonds stag-ger before the window only to drop again as the flames swept about him.

Origin of the fire was undetermined, but fire department officials say that it may have been due to spontaneous combustion and started in the rear of the garage.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

Vernon H. Nicholson, 23, and Ollie E. Cooper, 19, both of Richmond obtained a marriage license

on the same day by Lena Andreani, 19, and Valtista Bonjio, 29, both of Richmond.

Official Paper Of The City Of Richmond, California

THE WAY OF FLIRTATION

"Will you please publish an editorial on flirting?" is the request of a reader of this newspaper.

"I hope you will point out what happens to a man who flirts even while in public places with his wife," her letter adds.

Those who are interested in knowing what happens to flirts have read all about them in the news accounts of the Snyder murder trial.

That whole tragedy started over just such an episode.

A man looking for adventure and a woman looking for romance met as the result of flirtation.

Their first step was as fatal as the first step on a fly on sticky flypaper.

Before they knew it they were in the mess up to their knees.

They were smeared hopelessly. They couldn't tear themselves away.

Was this love? Not for a second!

It was nothing but a sordid wallowing in filth.

The complete lack of affection for each other was in the cold, unmoved fashion in which the one accused the other in the trial that ended in death sentences.

There was nothing except an evident desire to dodge full responsibility by shoving off the blame on the partner in their sordid adventure.

Against the powerful moral lesson of this situation any editorial would be a feeble affair.

The man or woman who cannot read the rules of conduct as taught by the Snyder case is so lacking in understanding as to be in imminent danger of similar trouble.

Who remembers the good old days when a woman could conceal her pocketbook in the hem of her skirt?

Miami democrats are inviting the democratic national convention to meet there next year. Evidently it takes more than one storm to scare Miami.

It seems that the Snyder-Gray trial was too strong even for the sob-sisters.

One nice thing about traveling by airplane is that you don't have to read a lot of billboard advertising enroute.

Men Who Made the World

THE NEXT MORNING THE ENGLISH WENT ASHORE. DRAKE PLANNED TO DO SOME NECESSARY REPAIR WORK ON THE VESSEL AND STARTED BUILDING A FORT FOR SHELTER AND PROTECTION DURING THEIR STAY. IT WAS NOW THE TWENTIETH OF JUNE, 1575, WHILE BUSY AT THIS WORK, LARGE GROUPS OF THE NATIVES APPEARED, DRESSED IN FULL WAR REGALIA. THE HOMAGE THEY SHOWED THE WHITE MEN NOW GAVE THE SOLUTION TO THE RIDDLE. THEY RECOGNIZED THE WHITE-FACED, CURIOUSLY GARBED VISITORS AS GODS, RATHER THAN MEN. THIS DISPLAY OF HEATHENISH SHOCKED THE PROTESTANT MARINERS, AND THEY DID THEIR VERY BEST TO CONVINCE THE INDIANS THEY WERE ONLY MEN. BUT THE CONVICTION THAT THEY WERE GODS REMAINED WITH THE INDIANS. THERE NOW ENDED A REMARKABLE SCENE. THE CHIEF OF THE INDIANS, WHO WERE DRESSED IN FULL WAR REGALIA, CAME FORWARD, WEARING A COAT OF FUR SKINS, WITH ONE HUNDRED GUARDS. SOMEHOW, SIMILARLY GARBED, ALL WORE FEATHERS IN THEIR HAIR AND PAINTED THEIR FACES AFTER A CURIOUS MANNER. THE INDIANS ENDED WITH WOMEN AND CHILDREN. EACH WOMAN BORE A ROUND BASKET OF WOVEN

What it's all about

By PAUL ALLEN

"I PROTEST," WRITES L. S. P., "against what happened to Charlie Lindbergh in France. They have done our boy wrong. Hung upon his bosom a medal which sounds like a million dollars, but which is purchasable for two francs."

Paul, don't let 'em get away with that. They made Charlie a KNIGHT of the Legion which is not at all the real thing. If they really had wanted to do something for him they should have made him an officer, a commander, a grand officer or awarded a grand cross. Any one of these would have been worth while. But a knight—Good night!

ALL THIS IS PROBABLY TRUE as our informant has spent a long time in France and knows about the ways of society as well as his way about Montmartre. To be made a knight of the Legion of Honor is to be elected to a fraternity of some 25,000 persons who have won fame as politicians, merchants, in public service, special sciences and the like. A great many of the 25,000 are totally unfit, undoubtedly, to be considered in the same class as Charles Lindbergh.

IF LINDBERGH HAD BEEN made an officer of the Legion he would have been in a smaller company—some 4,000 men of higher distinction.

Had he been made a commander he would have had only 1,000 prominent men as his associates. As a grand officer he would have been one of a select band of 200 and as a grand cross he would be one of a chosen few, seventy in number.

LINDBERGH IS A CHARTER member of the legion of personal honor. He has refused to have his wise young head turned by offers of fabulous sums to appear in movies, to do tricks on the stage or to lend himself to a thousand and one publicity stunts.

The boy's fortune is made anyway, and he will do well to keep from making a vaudeville artist of himself for the sake of a paltry million dollars or so. Money cannot pay for the lasting fame that is assured to him if he sticks to his own game, which is to promote the science of aviation.

LINDBERGH HAS A QUIET way of doing the word "we" in talking of himself. He has said that he meant that he meant his plane as well as himself. Perhaps he does part of the time, but to me it seems as though he used "we" because of a real, honest modesty.

In avoiding the "I" he gives credit for his success to every man who has contributed to aviation from the beginnings of civilization right down to 1927. That's what makes Lindbergh be great as well as seem great.

NEVER MIND! CHARLIE'S happy to be one of 25,000. He's been just as happy to be one of 25,000,000. Our own private hunch is that he'd just as leave

How To EARN MONEY at HOME.

By Sara Spence

A reader writes to ask if there are any absolutely original ways of making a living. She wants to do something out of the usual run. To this I can say—don't! It is all very well if you are rich and can afford to have a fad—to introduce some thing new and wait until you can convert the world into liking it. But a better way—if you want to be in money quickly—is to do the old thing. But—and this is important—do them in a new and better way.

Study the market and try to do something a little better than any one else is doing it. That is the way to make money quickly.

I can make cake, pies and doughnuts. How can I go about selling them. The women's exchanges are clamoring for these things. If they are done well. My advice is to contact them. Or, if you are the capitalist, you can make and sell from your own home. Buy pretty boxes and containers and put up your wares artistically. One of my friends inclosed a wooden fork or spoon with each pie or cake—just as a long is inclosed in high-class candy boxes. Try artistic looking food.

You wrote about a woman who sells a loaf for her bread. Is this really true? And will you tell me what she puts in it? I am a famous bread-maker. But I get only 25 cents for my bread.

It is actually true; and a loaf of it is in my own kitchen at this minute for which I paid my good dollar. I don't know what is in it, but the loaf weighs a little over a pound, it is delivered in a beautiful tin box; it keeps a week, and it tastes like a fruity brown bread but finer. Is this any help to you. It is all I know about it.

I enclose a picture drawn to pasture. Is there any market for such work? If K. Indeed, yes! It is a very artistic design and such designs sell readily to the art magazines, to the art shops, and to the commercial advertising people. I am amazed that such talent should lie dormant making no money. Whoever drew it is a natural born artist.

Can you help me to get money to start a mail order business of my own? I am employed now.

As long as your own living is secured you do not need a backer. Go to a wholesale house and select the article you want to sell. They will give you cuts of it. Circularize and you will get orders. If it is a good thing. The wholesaler will fill your orders for you and you need no capital. Do you get the idea?

I have money to start a roadhouse but I need some one with experience. Can you direct me to some one who knows the business.

PLEASE cut a little ad in the paper, just a couple of lines. You need not spend much money. I think the right person will answer. It is just the season now to open a roadhouse and run it successfully.

Mrs. Sarah Spence will answer all questions on "How to Earn Money at Home." Address her care of this paper.

Success Comes Quickly To Carefully Groomed Girl

We all know the business girl or woman who smugly remarks: "Oh, I can't be bothered to think about my looks and that sort of thing. I'm too busy."

It may not seem fair, but her chances for success in the business world are just about on a par with the sweet young thing who carries her pursuit of good looks to the other extreme.

The successful woman learns very early in life the value of a pleasing appearance, and never risks the consequences of carelessness in this respect. She knows that good looks and success go hand in hand even in the business world.

The business world is decidedly intolerant of the woman who exerts no effort to make herself attractive. Perhaps it isn't fair, but opinions are usually formed on first impressions. One may be extremely clever, but unless one is well groomed and well presented, one will soon find oneself in the scrap heap.

Indeed, it takes more than cleverness—one must be a counterbalance to the effect of a messy complexion, unkempt hair and an absence of neatness about one's person.

The successful business woman must look fit at all times. Unfortunately, the strain that woman must undergo to make a success have passed up membership in the legion entirely but for the fact that he wanted to be nice to people who were nice to him. This required some nerve on his part as accepting a legion badge also involves being kissed in public by a whiskered gentleman.

RUSHES ADORNED WITH RED FEATHERS AND SHELLS OF PEARL, CONTAINING GIFTS OF FOOD. MEANWHILE, MANY WOMEN IN THE BACKGROUND RAISED THEIR VOICES IN CRIES AND SHRIEKS. THEY TORTURED THEMSELVES, TEARING THE FLESH FROM THEIR CHEEKS WITH THEIR FINGER NAILS, HURLING THEMSELVES UPON THE GROUND AND LOOSE STONES, TERRIBLY BRUISING THEIR BODIES. IT WAS A HORRIBLE SCENE OF HEATHEN SACRIFICE. SEEING IT, DRAKE AND HIS MEN FELL ON THEIR KNEES, PRAYING THAT THE GOSPEL OF CHRIST MIGHT COME TO THE HEATHEN PEOPLE. THEN IN CEREMONIOUS FASHION, THE INDIANS STARTED TO DANCE AND CHANT. THE SCENE ENDED WITH ANOTHER ORATION, IN WHICH THE INDIANS PLEADED WITH DRAKE TO BECOME THEIR KING. TO PLEASE THEM, DRAKE ACCEPTED THE SCEPTRE OF RULERSHIP IN THE NAME OF HER MAJESTY, QUEEN OF ENGLAND, AND TREATED THE INDIANS WITH THE UTMOST COURTESY AND GENEROSITY.

Irish Hearts

By MOLLIE MALONE

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

"IRISH HEARTS," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

STORY BY MOLLIE MALONE. "Irish Hearts," a youth of Eilannmull, a village in Ireland, goes to New York and is attracted by Old Tom Kilgore and his daughter Sheila, with whom he is in love. Sheila begins to recognize Emmett as a hustler and later to realize the marriage. Old Tom Kilgore, a friend of the O'Sheas, who had settled in Hell's Kitchen a quarter of a century before, and who was a Reg. is a prizefighter.

CHAPTER IV—Continued. "Hello, mother, you home?" "This our Rory," explained Mrs. O'Shea as she sprang to her feet to welcome her son. They met at the kitchen doorway, and Sheila turned at the muffled sound of her father's voice. A man, she couldn't see his face, for he had turned his back to her. She saw the little old lady a snicker and then sat her lightly down upon her feet.

"Hello, dad. Got great news!" He turned short as he saw Sheila, who blushed in confusion at being a party to this intimate home scene.

"Miss Kilgore, this is my son, Rory," introduced Mrs. O'Shea said. "I'm pleased to know you," said Rory as he walked over to her chair and held out his hand. Sheila bowed and shook hands with him shyly. A nice looking young man, she thought, at the first quick glance. It was not until later that she caught glimpses of the cauliflower ear that graced the left side of Rory the Battler's head, and

"Some day I will," said Sheila. "How about next Sunday?" asked Rory O'Shea, who was as fast with his tongue as he was with his fists.

"I'd love to," whispered Sheila as she turned and fled up the stairs. And Rory O'Shea gazed at the empty stairway until he heard a door slam on an upper floor.

CHAPTER V America's Fairytale. The West Side Club was a semi-political and social organization. Product leaders in the ranks comprised its membership although small business men, who conducted the variety of shops along Ninth Avenue, found it to their benefit to pay dues and to appear at the occasional festivals.

At night, however, it was well filled with political fry who dreamed of leadership and graft. Legends of leadership are many in political clubs throughout the United States and the youth of the land generally dream of "easy" money. It is the age for that.

Pan Martin, who drove the scavenger truck to which Emmett O'Shea was detailed, had urged Emmett to join the club and when Emmett assented he took the young immigrant there and proposed him for membership. The honor, if a doubtful one, swelled the chest of the Killmanmull young man and he boasted long into night on Saturday of what his new connections were going to do for him. First citizenship papers were to be prepared for him and he would soon have a real say in the voice of America, he told Old Tom Kilgore. And Kilgore was least. Here was his own field, for couldn't he talk politics with the best of them?

"A good job is better'n the politics ye do be talking about," declared Sheila at the supper table. "Mr. O'Shea's son, the contractor, is going to visit them tomorrow, an' it's likely he'll be giving ye a job, Father."

"An' what to do?" inquired the old man.

"To do a day's work an' earn a day's wages," retorted Sheila, "an' it's proud ye should be that kind strangers like that would give ye a chance!"

"Well, I'll see the morrow," answered Old Tom, and Emmett again launched upon the fine fellows who were members of the West Side Club.

"I'll be busy the morrow an' we won't be able to go any place," he remarked pompously. "Sure, Sunday is the day when most of the boys do be gathering around at my club."

"An' ye needn't worry, Emmett, I've made other plans myself."

"Other plans?"

"Yes, other plans. Mr. Rory O'Shea has asked me to go to Coney Island, an' I'm going."

"Ye'll not be running around with them O'Sheas now," declared Old Tom. "I won't have it."

"Indeed an' ye will, Father, because 'tis all settled!"

"An' who is this Rory?" asked Emmett. "I never heard of him an' I'm sure he don't belong to the club."

"Oh, that's just a chance you got

After the installation the chapter repaired to the banquet hall where an enjoyable supper was served.

In thousands of average American homes there are now two automobiles—"a car for her, too," so there may be transportation for the family while "he" drives away to work.

And no other car is so admirably suited to a woman's requirements as the Most Beautiful Chevrolet.

It is easy to start because of its famous Delco-Remy electric starting system. It is easy to stop because of powerful, over-size brakes. And it is easy to drive and park because of a modern three-speed transmission, smooth-acting disc clutch, and a semi-reversible steering gear that gives finger-tip steering.

SIX CYLINDER DODGE IS PUT ON MARKET

Today marks one of the most important events in Dodge Brothers history, the introduction of the first model of the company's new line six-cylinder motor cars. The car put on display by Charles M. Condit, local Dodge Brothers dealer, is a four-door sedan, an impressive looking model which is said to possess a truly remarkable motor.

Within a few weeks two additional body types, a four-passenger coupe and a new type of six-cylinder roadster, will be added to the new line of "sixes."

Elaborate preparations for the advent of the six-cylinder cars have been made by Dodge Brothers. Last fall construction work was begun on one of the largest factory buildings in the world and throughout the winter and spring was rushed to completion.

Actual production of the six-cylinder line was started early in May. The initial production rate was about 50 cars a day. This has been rapidly stepped up from week to week and daily output is now running approximately 200. By the end of June when the two additional body types will be in production, it will run fully 200 cars a day.

The new line of "sixes" has been named Dodge Brothers Senior Line to distinguish it from Dodge Brothers Standard Line of four-cylinder cars with which the company has built up its world-wide reputation.

Senior Line Impressive

While the Senior Line embodies nothing freakish, either in construction or performance, it is presented by Dodge Brothers as the last word in comfort and performance for cars in its price class. Beauty of design, exceptional performance, style and comfort of interior appointments, and ease and economy of operation are major attributes.

Cranksheet Heavier

One of the most impressive features of the motor is the extremely heavy crankshaft and unusually large bearing area. The crankshaft is machined all over and weighs 60 pounds. Heavier than is used in any other engine of similar capacity, it is supported by seven extra large bearings. This fact, combined with excellent rigidity, results in a smoothness of operation that is said to be exceeded by no car, regardless of price.

The motor is of the L-head type, chosen by Dodge Brothers engineers because of the simplicity of the valve mechanism and relatively infrequent need of adjustment. The bore is 3 1/4 inches and the stroke 4 1/2 inches, with 223 cubic inches displacement. Its taxable horsepower is 25.35, N. E. C. rating.

The crankshaft bearings and connecting rod bearings have greater areas than are found in other motors of this capacity. The pistons are of an advanced type, designed to give rapid pickup, greater power, smooth performance, exceptionally low expansion and long life.

The exhaust valves are made of steel, plated with silicon and chromium materials which give maximum durability and resist rust and wear.

Efficient Carburetion

The carburetion system used is the latest type, designed to secure maximum efficiency in combustion and power. The fuel intake manifold is cleanly designed and has no sharp curves or bends to retard the flow of fuel from the carburetor to the combustion chamber. The center of the intake manifold is within a section of the exhaust manifold, giving an extra large "hot spot" section. The fuel charge, passing from the carburetor to the cylinder heads, hits this "hot spot" and is raised to the proper temperature for effective vaporization before it enters the combustion chamber. The short distance which the fuel has to travel reduces the tendency for it to lag or condense as it passes to the cylinders.

Single Plate of Clutch Used

A single plate type of clutch is used. Its design is similar to that used on many of the highest priced cars such as Hispano-Suiza, Pierce Arrow, Marmon, McFarlan, Locomobile, Packard, Sunbeam, Daimler, Duesenberg and the British Rolls-Royce. It is exceptionally easy and quiet to operate. The pedal action is said to be lighter and softer than any other type, and gives a smooth, gentle application of power with no chat-

J. P. Street, Richmond dealer, announces that the Willys-Knight light six coupe can now be obtained at the local salesrooms.

David M. Roca, Richmond Ford dealer, recently sold a Ford coupe to Charles E. Parker of the Richmond Fire Department. T. B. Lewis of Rodes bought a touring model from the same company.

A $3,000 stock of Federal tires has been laid in by the Fourth Street Garage under Overington & Sedman. The garage will be general Contra Costa county agents for this make of tire. The Federal tor of parts when it is released.

Selective Sliding Gear Transmission

The transmission is of the selective sliding gear type and the shift is the standard system with three forward and one reverse gear. Two roller ball bearings and three roller bearings are used in the transmission to insure quiet, smooth operation and long service without attention.

The motor is lubricated by a high pressure, forced-feed system which is simple, positive and dependable. It insures an ample supply of clean, filtered oil to every part at all times.

Four Wheel Brakes

All cars in the Senior Line are equipped with the most advanced design of Lockheed four-wheel, internal expanding, hydraulically operated brakes. The hydraulic system is automatically replenished and requires attention only at long intervals, possibly every seven or eight thousand miles.

The springs are of chrome vanadium steel and are completely in type. The front spring length is 27 inches and the rear 25 1/2 inches. The rear springs are underlugs.

Dodge Brothers dealers everywhere report an enormous advance interest in the new six as a result it is expected that the local showrooms will be well crowded for some time to come.

IN THE GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME!

Those who have experienced difficulty in the past in getting either price or service on their winter coal supply realize the wisdom of buying in the summer time when prices are at their lowest, according to John Ecklund of the Pacific Feed & Fuel Company, 101 Sixteenth Street.

In the summer, says Ecklund, dealers are better equipped to give prompt service, and prices are at the lowest.

VIRGINIA VALLI IN NOVEL ROLE AT CALIFORNIA

J. G. Blystone, directing his thirty-eighth photoplay for Fox Films, won the honor of shooting the first scenes ever filmed upon the mammoth stage recently completed as a part of a half-million dollar building program at the West Coast Studio.

With Virginia Valli in the leading feminine role and with J. Farrell MacDonal playing one of the principal character roles, Director Blystone photographed initial scenes in "The Family Upstairs," which comes to the California Theatre today.

He used for this purpose the interior of a seven-story house erected upon the south end of the enormous stage. Cast with Miss Valli are Allan Simpson, Ceille Evans, Lillian Elliott, Edward Fiel Jr., Jacqueline Wells and others.

In this budding comedy of domestic life Blystone, who has wielded the megaphone in more than thirty Fox Films, injects some of the most human touches of his directorial career. The story, adapted by L. G. Rigby, is contributed by that very humorous individual, Harry Delf, and addresses itself to the effects of a New York family eager to see a favorite daughter happily married.

There are many slips between the upstairs flat and the license clerk's office in the Municipal building, but pretty Louise, as portrayed by Miss Valli, finally bridges the gap not because of the members of the family but in spite of them.

Other features include "Punch Goofy," a roaring comedy; Fox News; Weigle's Californians; Larry Canelo, at the organ; and five acts of vaudeville.

SNAPPY BILL AT THE CALIFORNIA

There is a snappy five act bill of varieties to mount the rostrum of the California Theatre today with The Clarion Four and Ernest Young and Ernest Sharing headline honors of the program.

The Clarion Four are a quartet of young musicians featuring banjo, drums, piano and saxophone in a series of up-to-the-minute numbers that are the last word in syncopated revelry. The boys are neatly costumed and their ensemble and solo numbers are well worth while.

Ernest Young and Ernest in "Footloose" are three young vaudevillians with a dance routine that is replete with novelty numbers specializing in tap dancing that is different. The two girls are a clever soft shoe and whirlwind dance combination with youth and pep to back it up.

One of the cleverest ventriloquist novelties on the variety stage today is that presented by Frank Rogers, recognized as the greatest colored artist in his particular line of endeavor. With-out the aid of the usual dummies and paraphernalia Frank makes merry with his voice throwing stunts.

The Kuhn Sisters in "Bits of Vaudeville" and La Royal and Co. with magical nonsense are two other acts with something of especial interest to offer.

The colorful silk scarf is an important accessory to the neutral-colored sports outfit. Sometimes it is looped in Avant effect, again it is in a loose knot on the shoulder.

WEIRD SCENES IN NEW FILM AT RICHMOND

There is a weird and entertaining nightmare scene in "Tip-Toes," the feature at the Richmond Theatre today, in which a strange company of famous people cavort while Dorothy Gish in the penniless heroine of the story tosses guiltily on the silken bed in the expensive hotel suite which she is occupying under false pretenses.

Michael Arlen is seen cladding with Shakespeare; Miss Leighton, a beautiful woman, snatches her tennis ball; Mary Queen of Scots flirts with a modern young man and it all ends in a puff of smoke with Nelson Keys and Will Rogers, both sheathed in steel armor, rescuing Dorothy Ann when she awakes and realizes what she is, reality seems more distressing than the nightmare for she doesn't know when the fate of the manager may appear with a policeman to take herself and her tricks "couples," who are plotting to marry her to a wealthy young English lord, away to one of those awful English goals which Oscar Wilde described so vividly.

"Tip-Toes" is an unusual picture in more ways than one because it was produced in London, England. Paramount imported it to America.

Other film features include "Upper Cuts," a Christie comedy, and "Figures of Fancy."

McCallum Child Laid At Rest

Funeral services for Donald McCallum, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy D. McCallum of Auburn, were held yesterday morning from the Wilson and Kratzer chapel. Interment followed in Sunset View cemetery. The boy died following an operation for appendicitis. He was the nephew of Mrs. Paul Scott of Richmond and the grandson of Peter McCallum of Albany.

Capt. Luckey plans to hustle Lindbergh across the Atlantic and break the Maestri's speed record in order to avoid strain, but the Memphis is scheduled to reach Washington June 11 before noon.

Large quantities of fresh vegetables were loaded aboard the warship this morning, the supplies including radishes, carrots, asparagus. There were also fresh milk and many flowers, the latter in banded stalks and purple irises.

Six Mascots

Six mascots are aboard three cats, two dogs and a two-year-old kangaroo which is allowed to roam about the ship like the other pets.

Lindbergh's plane the Spirit of St. Louis, is at the center of the main deck beneath the catapault planes carried by the Memphis. The plane is boxed in two sections, one box containing the wings and the other the remainder of the plane intact so that it can be reassembled ready to fly in two hours.

The Memphis is a spick and span vessel, the sailors furiously completing the cleaning while asking among themselves:

"Do you think Lindbergh will talk to us or high hat us for the officers?"

Capt. Lindbergh arrived at the Laysan Airfield, 35 miles from Cherbourg, at noon in a French two-seater plane with Sergt. Charpentier, of the French air service as a passenger. He made the flight from Le Bourget in two hours and 35 minutes. His last flight over European soil was done perfectly and in perfect weather. The trip from Laysan to Cherbourg was made by automobile in about an hour.

When he arrived at the Memphis Lindbergh was still in his flying togs. Four seaplanes were flying overhead as he went on board. On his way across it is understood Lindbergh will spend most of his time assembling material for a book dealing with his flight across the Atlantic. He is occupying the quarters of Capt. David Worth Hakey, chief of staff, who turned over to the flyer his stateroom and salon, with shower bath, and comfortable leather furniture.

Monterey Improvements to be made to Monterey-Castroville road. Redding, Ugnard, portions of Pacific Highway north of Redding being closed.

15-minutes was inaugurated. ESPEE COOPERATES
The Southern Pacific is cooperating in every way possible in realizing that improved service not only makes new business but that it encourages Richmond folk to patronize the auto ferry line. On the other hand Richmond citizens have been quick to respond to the improved service.

BUS SERVICE DESIRED
The Chamber of Commerce is now endeavoring to secure improved bus service for the benefit of the foot passengers who patronize the Richmond-San Francisco ferry. It is thought it will not be difficult to show the traction company where it would be to its advantage to keep pace with the other public utility in providing improved service. A tie people of Richmond become more fully informed of the fact that they are within 40 minutes of San Francisco under a 45 minute ferry schedule they will more and more make use of the ferry.

In San Francisco there are thousands of people who are looking toward Richmond and who will avail themselves of the opportunity of visiting Richmond through the improved transportation service. The opening of Carquinez bridge has emphasized the fact that rapid transportation is only possible across bridges as far as highway traffic is concerned but until there is a bridge across the main San Francisco bay our ferry companies will be compelled to add additional craft to take care of the growing motor traffic which will continue to pour across the Carquinez, the Antioch and the Dumbarton bridges.

Last Rites Held For Mrs. Ferris

Last rites were held yesterday afternoon from the Wilson & Kratzer chapel for Mrs. Margaret Ferris, manager of a boarding house at 19 Park Place, Richmond, who passed away last week at her home. Rev. H. I. Oberholtzer, pastor of St. Edmund's church, delivered the eulogy. Cremation followed at the Berkeley crematory.

"The drive across the Australian continent was made just 57 years after Lord Forrest of Bunbury with his five explorers made history through an overland journey from Perth to Adelaide, the most difficult part of this trip.

"Two outstanding features mark the seven day non-stop run at Edwardsville, Ill. First, 4,615 miles were achieved without any trouble, though the car had previously been run 9,988 miles and up to the time of the test had cost but $470 for repairs; secondly, the test was remarkable because 17 different persons, of varied skill or lack of skill, drove the car."

Mighty Armada Passes In Review Before Coolidge

(By Universal Service)
FORT MONROE, Va., June 4.—(Aboard U. S. S. Mayflower, Hampton Roads, Va.)—The mightiest armada that ever sailed under the United States flag paraded past President Coolidge here this afternoon and steamed past Cape Henry to the sea.

Out of the mist overarching this historic rendezvous the Seattle comes into view. She is flying the four starred flag of Admiral Hughes, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, the National Ensign flutters from the truck. One hears the plaint note of the boatswain piping all hands to man the rail. A gun in the forward turret booms first of the 21 guns of the national salute. The marine guard is paraded, the ship's band strikes up the Star Spangled Banner and the nation's greatest show of fighting craft begins what may be its last big parade.

Admiral Charles F. Hughes stood on the bridge of the Seattle as rigid in attention as any of the hundred seamen standing at the rail. Behind him came the navy, one hundred warships. The warships call him affectionately in token of his flowing mustaches. Past the Mayflower half a mile off he signalled and the cruiser swept in a graceful curve and took up a position off the Mayflower where Admiral Hughes watched his last review.

And then came the ships. Miles on miles of them. Each one stripped for sea, even the little submarines they decks awash but a handful of seamen swaying against the rope as they went through the motions of manning the rail. But seamen learn what feel that the fate of their beloved ships rested in the hands of the silent, almost indifferent appearing man who watched from the Mayflower, the commander-in-chief of the armed forces of the United States with a yachting cap setting somewhat jauntily on his head. The word had already passed from ship to ship that he had reached a decision on such ships as are to be scrapped at the forthcoming Geneva arms conference. Everyone seemed to be uneasy.

But what an unbalanced fleet. Even Admiral Hughes remarked it as did every officer of the line. The scouting fleet was represented by one lone modern cruiser the type which is going on the block at the approaching Geneva conference. In times of peace the few remaining ships in this class are on duty in China and Nicaragua. The ancient covered wagon the coal boat Langley which has been converted into an airplane carrier lumbered along. There were blank spaces where destroyer leaders should have been. The submarines were woefully lacking. The few airplanes which cruised about were weary of the bad weather most of them old timers rebuilt.

The battleships Nevada and Oklahoma were the only ships with young faces aboard. There were twelve midshipmen from the naval academy on their annual cruise which takes them to the Pacific. But here also there was a strong indication of the change in naval warfare.

Where heretofore five hundred and fifty ensigns from the graduating class have been assigned to

AUTO CLASSIC HELD SUCCESS

By RAY PRIEST

(By Universal Service)
DETROIT, Mich., June 4.—Engineers and race fans returned to the motor city this week to find it fairly bristling with activity.

The automobile engineers seemed to have a much more satisfactory trip to their annual convocation at French Lick Springs, Ind., than did those race bugs who went from here to see some speed at the 500 mile race at Indianapolis.

The results of this year's Society of Automotive Engineers convention is bound to have a far reaching effect. For the first time in their lives many of the engineers actually got a chance to build an automobile. Delegates from various sections of the country were organized into teams which put on a manufacturing race to see which could make a Chevrolet run from the parts. To win the contest, the team had to build the car completely and then drive it a prescribed distance.

The things they found about the difficulties encountered assembling some of the parts is bound to bring changes, the engineers stated.

The entire meeting was a success. The engineers were also fortunate in getting together with Captain Edward V. Hickenbacker and his American automobile association contest board for some definite understanding of the stock car racing problem.

The result is that the automobile manufacturers are now definitely planned down to the position in which they must ask the S. A. E. and the A. A. A. to enforce their rules for them.

That will mean that this quibbling about honesty on the part of the makers will be ended. The race fans got plenty of thrills at Indianapolis, Decoration Day, but were disappointed in the lack of speed and stamina shown by the supposedly best racing cars and also supposedly best known racing drivers.

The thrills came in fast order. First Norman Batten's car caught fire, then Henry Kohler turned over on the south turn, Peter Kries broke down with a cracked front axle, Harry Hartz rammed a connecting rod through the crankcase, Jules Ellingboe turned over on the north turn and was pinned beneath his car, and a myriad of drivers quit one after the other.

Then the best known ones started to giving each other relief and before the few minutes had passed it was impossible to tell what driver was in the car.

Through it all the youngsters kept turning lap after lap in their two and three year old racing cars, maintaining a steady speed and staying out of the pits. George Souders, the 24 year old winner, went to the pit only twice. They didn't make any grandstand plays and just kept reeling off the miles.

Frank Lockhart, who won the 1926 race was ahead for a little over half the race when he cracked up his car. It wouldn't stand the strain. All this time Souders was driving carefully around the two-and-one-half-mile brick oval at a speed less than 100 miles per hour. When Lockhart failed the leaders that succeeded him, De Paolo, Bauman, and Souders each reduced the average speed for the race.

Ten of the eleven front wheel drive cars entered in the race started. Only three of the front wheel drive cars was still running when the race ended and these duty on battleships, the entire class has been detailed to a three months course in aviation. This apparently unimportant item, old sailors say, spells doom for the dreadnaught.

The Moguls Decide

(A true story of a ball player's redemption)

It was a bright morning in April, and the Powers That Be in Standard Oil baseball were meeting in secret session to discuss plans for the betterment of the Twilight League.

Big Chief Howard French, president of the league, stood by the open window toying with his Elk watch charm. A gentle breeze, laden with the delicate fragrance of petroleum, gasoline and white oil, zephyred its way across the refinery yards and into the sanctum where the Big Moguls were holding confab.

Big Chief French turned and addressed the assemblage which included Little Chief Pop Arlett, manager of the Mechanics; Little Chief Willis Butler, manager of the Barrel House; Little Chief Pat Transue, manager of the All Standards, and Little Chief Chick Autry, manager of the Refiners.

"We are gathered here today, boys," said Big Chief French, "to distribute players to the four teams in the league. First, we will consider the case of Billy Lane. Who wants him?"

"I do," said Little Chief Pop Arlett.

"I do," said Little Chief Willis Butler.

"I do," said Little Chief Chick Autry.

Big Chief French meditated for several minutes.

"The Mechanics need him the most. They therefore get him," he decided with finality.

Three of the Little Chiefs looked crestfallen.

Big Chief French scanned the list before him.

"We will now consider the case of Elmer Hansen," he announced.

"Who wants him?"

Silence reigned supreme at the table around which the Little Chiefs were sitting. Doubtless they well remembered Hansen's past inability to hit his hat, his fumbling play in the field and his bonehead base running.

"Come, come my brave men!" said Big Chief French. "This is no time for dalliance. Remember that we are meeting on the company's time. I repeat, who wants Hansen?"

"Not I," said Little Chief Pop Arlett.

"Not I," said Little Chief Willis Butler.

"Not I," said Little Chief Chick Autry.

Little Chief Chick Autry was silent for a moment. Then, as though struck by a divine inspiration, he announced with the air of a martyr: "I'll take him."

Little Chiefs Pop Arlett, Willis Butler and Pat Transue looked at him pityingly.

Two months have passed and it was now a bright morning in June, and the Powers That Be in Standard Oil baseball were meeting in secret session to discuss plans for the betterment of the Twilight League.

Big Chief Howard French, president of the league, stood by the open window toying with his Elk watch charm. A gentle breeze, laden with the delicate fragrance of petroleum, gasoline and white oil, zephyred its way across the refinery yards and into the sanctum where the Big Moguls were holding confab.

Big Chief French turned and addressed the assemblage, which included Little Chief Pop Arlett, manager of the Mechanics; Little Chief Willis Butler, manager of the Barrel House; Little Chief Pat Transue, manager of the All Standards, and Little Chief Chick Autry, manager of the Refiners.

"The season is now a third over," he ruminated, "and what a season of surprises it has been! Consider the case of Elmer Hansen, leading hitter of the league. Who'd a think he would be such a sensation on this team?"

He suddenly turned.

"Did one of you say something?" he demanded of the Little Chiefs.

"Not I," said Little Chief Pop Arlett.

"Not I," said Little Chief Willis Butler.

"Not I," said Little Chief Chick Autry.

Little Chief Chick Autry said nothing, but there was deep contentment in the smile that flashed across his face as he happily scanned the batting averages on the table in front of him; it was the smile of complete satisfaction that a man has when he feels that he has done a good job.

were back of fifth position in the money.

Harry Miller, veteran bulldog of racing cars, seen after the race was very sorrowful.

"The race was disappointing," he said. "The front drive cars didn't do what we expected of them."

Earl Cooper, who had three front drive cars in the race that he built himself and one built by Miller had a reason for each of the three of his cars failing. The fourth finished in the money.

Drivers were inclined to discount the safety talk which had been handed out about the front drive cars. They pointed out after the race that Ellingboe in a front drive car had the same kind of accident that Kohler had in a rear drive car and Ellingboe suffered the most serious injury.

The activities around Detroit seems mainly due to the new car announcements.

Ford has started working on his new products. Increased activity is apparent at both his plants.

Hudson-Essex which slowed down for its change over started with redoubled efficiency to try breaking some more production records.

Proof that business is very much better may be found in the classified columns of the newspapers in this territory which carry large space from the factories asking competent workmen to report at their employment offices.

HEART TROUBLE Marvelously Relieved

While visiting her daughter here in Oakland, Mrs. W. H. Morton of Stockton was in such great pain due to heart trouble that it affected her left hand. She could neither walk nor rest with the slightest comfort. All the physicians whom she consulted expressed the opinion that she had not more than ten days to live. She truly seemed to be at the point of death when she took her first package of the Fong Wan Herb Co. and to the amazement of all who attended me, I was able to walk into their office after taking the Herbs one week.

I have now taken them four weeks and I not only have a good heart, but have also been helped in other ailments. I cannot speak too highly of the Fong Wan Herbs, as I owe my life to them. I am very grateful to Fong Wan for his kindness.

Bellanca Sets Stiff Pace To Break Record Of Lindbergh

aboard was going like a hot iron in a bee line from New York to Berlin over the Atlantic ocean tonight.
Destination Unknown
The destination is "somewhere in Europe." It is generally believed here that the fliers intend to alight in Berlin, though there was some intimation that they will go to Rome.

Whether they stick to the Berlin route or swerve to the south depends on weather conditions abroad tomorrow.
"Let Gas Give Out"
"We are going until our gasoline gives out," said Chamberlin before the hop off.

It may mean that they secretly hope to pass Berlin and go on to Moscow.
The Bellanca plane in which they are flying could reach Moscow with 451 gallons of gasoline aboard. Chamberlin kept this same plane in the air more than fifty-one hours and broke all records a month or so ago. In that time he could have flown to Constantinople.

Ireland Today
If Chamberlin and Levine maintain their schedule they will reach the Irish coast about 11 o'clock tomorrow morning and will be in Berlin at 10 o'clock tomorrow night.
They could reach Rome in about the same time.
Record Sought
But no matter where they alight they are out to beat Charles Lindbergh's New York to Paris record established just fifteen days ago.

At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon the plane which left New York at 6:05 this morning passed within fifteen miles of Halifax and was travelling at a speed of 100 miles an hour.
It was then flying at a height of 1,200 feet and was plainly visible to observers along the coast. Flying conditions were almost perfect and it was then believed the craft would be well over the ocean before darkness.

All day long the plane, "The Columbia," had kept to Lindbergh's route. The flight was followed up the Atlantic coast and frequent reports were sent back that it had been seen at first one place and then another always further to the northeast.
When it passed Sag Harbor at 1:55 o'clock it had covered 630 miles in seven hours and fifty minutes. It had fought head winds almost all the way.

Giuseppe M. Bellanca, who designed the Columbia, charted the course minutely. He said this afternoon that the plane was "hacking a twenty-five mile headwind and that had cut down the speed some. But this did not jeopardize the fliers' chances of reaching their goal, he said. He believes that they will make up lost time further on. "Chamberlin is not pushing his plane," Bellanca said. "The engine is capable of 1,935 revolutions or 115 miles an hour, but Chamberlin is not trying to force the plane at high speed against the wind. He is waiting until he passes the area of wind when his plane will easily reach and maintain an average of 100 miles an hour."

Chamberlin wishes to take no chances with his engine, and straining it too greatly against a strong headwind might be taking a chance. He would rather do the best he can under the present conditions and make up for lost time at the earliest opportunity.

Chamberlin's greatest test came early tonight when he sailed through the fogs off the coast of Newfoundland.
He figured in advance that when he was once clear of them the worst of the flight would be over. All shipping in the Atlantic was notified by radio today to be on the lookout for the fliers to report any sign of them and to be of whatever assistance may be necessary.

The coast guard cutter Tampa, which is on ice patrol 400 miles off Cape Race was especially asked to be on a close lookout for the Columbia.

These messages were sent by the Bureau of Navigation at Washington.
Chamberlin was at the stick at the hop off and it is believed that he will remain there most of the time as Levine is not an experienced pilot. About the last Levine can do during the weary grind is to hold the stick occasionally while Chamberlin stretches his muscles.

All such the public generally is not getting the thrill out of this flight that they did out of Lindbergh's jump, those who saw the take off say it was much more dramatic.
The heroes were thrown into the scene when Charles Levine, the financial backer of the venture, jumped into the cockpit with Chamberlin. No one had ever dreamed he would relish such a flight.

This flight, too, has the woman angle to make it gripping.
Lindbergh left no girl behind to weep for him, while in this case Chamberlin left a courageous wife smiling through her tears and Levine left a wife who fainted when she realized he had stolen away before her eyes.

The brave women—wives—are awake tonight waiting for every scrap of news from their husbands.
"So long, see you in thirty days," Chamberlin told his wife—and if the prayers of these two women, besides the thousands of other prayers offered for the fliers ring true it will be less than thirty days before they are home with their sweethearts.

The Columbia is considered by aviators as a wonderful plane. Most of them believe it will reach its destination "some where in Europe." Tomorrow the world will know where that is.
